ABOUT the author | Matt de la Peña

Matt de la Peña is the New York Times bestselling, Newbery Medal-winning author of seven young adult novels (including Mexican WhiteBoy, We Were Here, and Superman: Dawnbreaker) and five picture books (including Last Stop on Market Street and Love). Matt received his M.F.A. in creative writing from San Diego State University and his B.A. from the University of the Pacific, where he attended school on a full athletic scholarship for basketball. In 2019 Matt was given an honorary doctorate from UOP. De la Peña currently lives in San Diego, California with his family. He teaches creative writing and visits schools and colleges throughout the country.

ABOUT the illustrator | Christian Robinson

Christian Robinson was born in Hollywood, California. He grew up in a small one-bedroom apartment with his brother, two cousins, aunt, and grandmother. Drawing became a way to make space for himself and to create the kind of world he wanted to see. He studied animation at the California Institute of the Arts and would later work with the Sesame Workshop and Pixar Animation Studios before becoming an illustrator of books for children. His books include Gaston and Antoinette, written by Kelly DiPucchio, and the #1 New York Times bestseller Last Stop on Market Street, written by Matt de la Peña, which was awarded a Caldecott Honor, a Coretta Scott King Illustrator Honor, and the Newbery Medal. He presently lives in northern California with his rescue greyhound Baldwin and several house plants. He looks forward to one day seeing the aurora borealis.

CJ has a hard time unplugging from his tablet and other devices. He is so focused on the electronic world that he misses things that are happening around him. Challenge your students to spend a night without screens! Then ask them to talk about it or write about it. Check out the prompts below.

- What was the most challenging part of not using your screens?
- What did you do instead of using your screens?
- What would you do if all of your devices disappeared?
- Why do we use screens so much?

CJ learns so much from Nana while he is staying with her. Nana takes the time to share things from her culture, like language and recipes, and even different ways to look at the world.

- Ask your students to reach out to someone from an older generation. It could be a grandparent, neighbor, or maybe even another teacher at school. Have students ask them about a special tradition in their life—maybe it’s something they like to do on a holiday or a family recipe.
- Then, ask students to present what was shared with them.
- They can do this by writing a story, drawing a picture, or giving a presentation to the class.

MISSOURI STANDARDS

MISSOURI SOCIAL STUDIES GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS: SS6C, K-5: Recount stories about locations, people, and cultural events in your community.

MISSOURI PERSONAL AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS PS2A, B, C K-8: Interacting with others in ways that respect individual and group differences.
MAP THAT BUS

During Last Stop on Market Street, the bus that CJ and Nana travel on makes many different stops. Sometimes people get on the bus and sometimes they get off.

MAP THAT BUS

1. Read the book as a class and make a list of places that stand out in the book.
2. Have students create maps based on the list of places you have created.
3. Don’t forget to include a key and compass with primary directions on the map!
4. After students have created their own Market Street map, they can create a map of their own neighborhoods, house, or even the classroom.

MISSOURI STANDARDS

MISSOURI SOCIAL STUDIES GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS: SS5.A, K-5:
With assistance, read, construct, and use maps of familiar places such as the classroom, the home, the bedroom etc.

MISSOURI SOCIAL STUDIES GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS: SS5.B, K-5:
Locate a place by pointing it out on a map and by describing its relative location.

EXTRA FUN!

If you are learning about primary directions for the first time, try out this song from Teachers Pay Teachers – Class of Kinders.

NATIONAL CORE ARTS STANDARDS

MUSIC (MU) PR6.1.K:
With guidance, perform music with expression.

(Sing to the tune of “Twinkle Twinkle Little Star”)

If you like the oceans best
Travel east or travel west
If you like the cold and snow
North’s the way you want to go
If you like the hot hot sun
Head down south for lots of fun

When CJ first meets Jojo, they do not get along. They have very different life experiences and do not understand one another. As they learn more about one another they find common ground and respect for their new friend. This activity is all about making space for students to learn new things about their classmates—and to share about their own lives.

THE TRUTH ABOUT ME

1. Have students stand in a circle. Everyone should think about something that is true about them—maybe that they have a sibling, maybe their favorite color—something they are comfortable sharing with the class.

2. Once most students have thought of something that is true about them, ask one student to stand in the middle of the circle. They will share their fact with the class by saying “The truth about me is...” followed by their fact.

3. If the statement is true about anyone else in the classroom, they should find a new spot across the circle from them. If it is not true, they should stay put. The person who was in the middle should try and find a spot in the circle.

4. Remind students to use safe bodies as they cross the circle—no running feet! You can also challenge them to keep their voices off as they cross the circle.

5. The person left in the middle, or the last person to find a spot will be the next one to share a fact.

6. If someone shares something that isn’t true about anyone else, take a moment to celebrate that there is something unique about that person. Then you can either ask them to share another fact, or call on another student to jump into the middle.

AFTER YOU HAVE PLAYED, ASK YOUR STUDENTS TO CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:

- Did they learn anything new about a classmate?
- Were they surprised to find they had something in common with a classmate?
- Was there anything they were really excited to share? Was there anything that they were nervous to share?
- Take a moment to celebrate the bravery of students who shared even when they were nervous.

MISSOURI STANDARDS

MISSOURI COMMUNICATION ARTS GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS LS1B K-8:
Demonstrate listening behaviors.

MISSOURI PERSONAL AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS PS2A, B, C K-8:
Interacting with others in ways that respect individual and group differences.
CJ makes so many discoveries about his Nana’s neighborhood and the people in it. Go outside in your neighborhood, or a friend or family member’s neighborhood and make your own discoveries!

Spend a few minutes looking at your surroundings. Observe the buildings, nature, animals, people, cars, etc. Perhaps you can even go on a walk while playing! Secretly pick something that you “spy” in the neighborhood, but don’t tell anyone what it is. For instance, maybe you spy a red door or some purple flowers. You can give clues to others about what you spy by sharing the color or the first letter.

FOR EXAMPLE:

“I spy with my little eye, something red.”

OR

“I spy with my little eye, something that starts with the letter R.”

Then, people guess what you spied.

Take turns spying and sharing different things you see in the neighborhood.

Discuss the details you noticed that make the neighborhood unique and special.

MISSOURI STANDARDS
MISSOURI COMMUNICATION ARTS
GRADE LEVEL EXPECTATIONS 3A K-5:
Speak clearly and to the point, using conventions of language when presenting individually or with a group.
The artwork in the book, Last Stop on Market Street, is filled with bright beautiful colors and designs. Set design team, Peter and Margery Spack, used the artwork from the book as an inspiration for the set design. The designs were then brought to life by Erik Kuhn, Metro Theater Company technical director, and scenic painter Cristie Johnston. Check out the images of the set below!

- Ask your students to compare and contrast the set design pictures to the pictures in the book.
- Then, ask students to create their own images inspired by the book— it could be their own set design, or a regular image.
- After watching the production, take some time to look at our production photos on our website, metroplays.org.

Have your students compare and contrast the designs to the real life images!
